

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20 —(UP)—Indicative of the change in economic conditions and assuring the future of California's highway system, gasoline tax collections in 1935 amounted to $44,021,668, or more than $2,500,000 above the highest previous mark set by the tax in 1931.

The total figure for the year carried out the increase indicated last spring.

Various returns from taxes growing out of the legalization of the liquor industry are reaching substantial amounts also.

George Stout, liquor administrator, reported that liquor license fees for last year amounted to $6,119,780. The sale of excise liquor tax stamps for the last six months totaled $4,119,780, and the 2 cents a gallon tax on beer and wine brought in $1,700,059 to the state treasury.

The marriage of Gov. Frank F. Merriam to Mrs. Jessie Stewart Lipsey of Long Beach marks the first time in the history of the state that a chief executive took a wife during his term of office. It was his third marriage, and Mrs. Lipsey's second.

Continuation of preliminary work on the central valleys water project was made possible by another grant from state emergency funds, amounting to $20,000. The money is to be used for the acquisition of rights of way and negotiations with prospective users of water and power eventually developed by the $170,000,000 project.

A proclamation declaring the week beginning March 7, Luther Burbank's birthday and California Arbor Day, should be set aside as "Conservation Week," has been issued by Gov. Merriam. "In order that we might give proper attention to the many natural advantages of California," in signing the proclamation the governor pointed out that conservation of natural resources is more economical and beneficial than restoration.

A movement looking toward a petition to the federal government to reconsider the section of the National security act which reduced the minimum residence requirement from 15 to 5 years has been started by the state social welfare board.

Board members said the reduction of the residence requirement under the old age security act worked an "unjust hardship" on California where many persons come to spend their declining years.

The question was to be discussed with Gov. Merriam later.

LAST DAY TO GET AUTO LICENSES

Positively, without exception January 30th at midnight is the last moment for applying for 1936 license plates. That is the time fixed by law and the Motor Vehicle Department has no power to extend that time, as has been done in the past.

Those motorists who have not sent in their payment for the registration and the new license fee, which is in addition to the registration fee, will find themselves faced with a double tax.

TWO WPA PROJECTS NOW UNDERWAY

Twenty-five Men Are Now Employed On These Jobs Sanitary District to Replace Sewer Pipes and Excavating Being Done At Ice Palace

Work was started on the two WPA projects on Tuesday and thirteen men are now employed on the ice palace project and twelve men on the sewer project for the Truckee Sanitary District. As more men are available they will be added to these projects.

The WPA have granted the Truckee Sanitary District about $1200 for their project and is to cover the replacing of old sewer pipe with large sized pipe. This work was started last spring under an SERRA project and it is hoped to complete the work under this and additional WPA projects.

At the ice palace project, thirteen men are employed and they are now engaged in excavating for the foundation of the walls. There is considerable work of this type to be done which will keep the men busy for some time to come. It will also be necessary to get the rock and sand brought to the job, which will be used in the erection of the walls of the building which are to be of native rock. It is planned to get this type of work done as quickly as possible and when the weather is suitable for starting the masonry work there will be no delay as the necessary preliminary work will be done and all materials will be on the job.

Fred Marsh, project engineer for Nevada, Sierra and Placer Counties who is from the Auburn office was in town on Monday to get the projects underway and line up the work and men.

F. I. Ross, safety engineer was here on Tuesday to inspect the two jobs and see that all safety measures were being observed.

Sportland Poolroom Sold To D. C. Greenman

The Sportland Pool Room, opened last May by Edward Thompson, was sold on Wednesday to D. C. Greenman formerly of Corning, New York.

Mr. Greenman has been in the west for the past four months looking for a location and has been as far south as San Diego without finding what he wished. Mr. Greenman was engaged in the general merchandising business in the east and has had experience in the operation of pool rooms. Mr. Greenman will conduct the poolroom in the same manner as Mr. Thompson has in the past.

Mr. Greenman's family are now in the east and will shortly join him and make their home in town.

Mr. Thompson and his wife will leave shortly for their home in the south.

Levonnie Joseph Disappears From Home

Levonnie Joseph, 15 year old son of Dick Joseph disappeared from his home Tuesday night and no trace has been found of the missing boy.

Mr. Joseph discovered his son was missing when he came home late Tuesday night and a search around town was made, but the boy could not be found. Notices have been sent out to police officers throughout the state and Nevada to be on the lookout for the missing boy.

No reason for the boy's disappearance could be given by his father other than a report card he had received from high school was very poor and he had been reprimanded for making such poor marks in his studies.

Son Born To Mr. And Mrs. Rutherford

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rutherford of Reno have announced the birth of a son, born on Wednesday, January 28 at Reno. The baby weighed seven and one-half pounds. Mother and child are doing nicely.

The President Speaks

Talking by telephone to a dinner meeting of the National Committee for the Birthday Ball for the President at the Waldorf-Astoria on Jan. 18th, President Roosevelt's words were picked up by radio and broadcast to the nation. The address marked the first time in Birthday Ball history that the Chief Executive spoke to the nation previously for a national-wide war on infantile paralysis. Col. Henry L. Boker, chairman of the National Committee, presided at the Waldorf dinner, attended by nearly one hundred of the nation's leaders. Millions of Americans listened in.

TRUCKEE JOINS NATION IN BATTLE AGAINST DISEASE

Truckee tonight joins the rest of the nation in raising funds for one of the most humanitarian movements ever fostered, that of making possible research work for the cure and prevention of infantile paralysis. As in other communities throughout the forty-eight states, funds will be raised with a ball in honor of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself a victim of the disease.

In addition to the dance to be held in the Masonic Hall starting at 9 o'clock, a card party will be held in the Odd Fellows Hall at 8 o'clock.

The Eagles Rhythm Makers of Sparks will furnish the music for the dance and a radio will be installed at the Odd Fellows Hall for those who desire to hear the president's message.

Seventy per cent of the net proceeds of the dance will be used locally for treatment of any infantile paralysis victims. Thirty per cent will be sent to national headquarters and to Warm Springs, Georgia for research work in prevention of this disease.

Dan Knies is general chairman of the Birthday Ball for the President and is asking the support of the community to this worthy cause.

Locale Wins Praise Of Canadian Captain

The high Sierra of the region looks more like Canada than does Canada. This comes from Captain H. M. Fowell of the Canadian Mounted Police, who is in Truckee acting as technical advisor for The Country Beyond, being filmed by the Twentieth Century-Fox Company.

Captain Fowell now is stationed at Vancouver, B. C. In his twenty years of service with the Canadian police he has seen duty in every part of the Dominion.

"I didn't think there was any country in the world like northern Alberta," said Fowell. "But when the train pulled over the Donner Summit and started down grade, I kept looking for familiar landmarks, so similar in this country to that of Canada."

Captain Fowell was assigned to the picture by the Canadian government at the request of Sol M. Wurtzel, executive producer of The Country Beyond.

Frank Finnegan of Nevada City was a business visitor in town on Saturday.

MR. AND MRS. BUDDLE TO MANAGE HOTEL

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Buddle are now installed at the Southern Pacific Hotel as managers, replacing Mrs. Wilbur Maynard who is now at the Southern Pacific Restaurant at Sacramento as cashier.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddle come from Carlin, Nevada where they have managed the clubhouse for the Southern Pacific at that point, and are experienced hotel people.

The hotel is undergoing renovation this week and Mr. Buddle expects by the end of the week to have all in readiness to serve the public. The hotel will be open twenty-four hours a day and the hotel restaurant, which has been closed since 1931 will open to the public about February 22nd.

Mr. Buddle stated that on February 9th the Southern Pacific General Office Employees will have an excursion to Truckee and it is expected that there will be around six hundred in the party. The hotel restaurant will be opened for this party, but not for the general public.

Reservations have been made for a party of about thirty-five members of the Alpine Club for February 22nd and 23rd.

Two Former Residents Die In Santa Cruz

Mrs. Kate Batchelder and Miss Minnie Millett, former Truckee residents, passed away at their home in Santa Cruz last week. The two sisters died within ten hours of each other.

Mrs. Batchelder and Miss Millett were aunts of Mrs. Jos. Sanders, Mrs. Thomas Armstrong O. J., John and Vivian Rablin.

Funeral services were held in Santa Cruz and were attended by many relatives.

PLANS RECEIVED FOR MODEL CITIES

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30 —(UP)—Plans and specifications for "model cities," in which to house government employees at the sites of the proposed Friant and Kennett dams, have been received at headquarters of the Central Valleys project here, Walker R. Young, chief engineer, announced.

As actual construction work on the project is to be let by contract, living facilities for those employed in building the dams probably will be provided by the contractors.

NON SUIT ENDS HOPE WILL CASE

The contest of the will of the late Mrs. Bertha M. Hope, brought by Mrs. Edith I. Fay ended in a non-suit in the superior court with Judge Raglan Tuttle presiding.

Mrs. Fay was the beneficiary to the amount of about $7,000 cash in the banks under a will which she produced and which was executed by Mrs. Hope July 10, 1933. Mrs. Fay was also named as executrix of that will.

The contestant alleged that Mrs. Hope was incompetent to execute the will which bequeathed the bulk of her estate to Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Polyanich and their daughter, Frances, and revoked the previous will.

After the jury was selected the taking of evidence of the contestant was begun. Mrs. Fay, Mrs. Lawrence Zoebel, Mrs. R. A. Tonini and Mrs. P. R. Nelson testified to facts which it was claimed showed that Mrs. Hope was incompetent to make the will which had been admitted to probate.

After the evidence was completed Attorney Frank Finnegan on behalf of A. B. Polyanich, the executor of the will, moved for a non-suit on the ground of insufficiency of the evidence to support the contest. The motion was granted by Judge Tuttle and the case came to an end.

Utility District To Inspect Electric Apparatus

The Truckee Public Utility District will initiate a movement shortly to endeavor to eliminate a great deal of the radio interference now being experienced in town is the announcement of C. Edmunds, manager for the district.

Chester Elliott of Hobart Mills, radio technician has offered his services to the Utility District. Mr. Edmunds and Mr. Elliott will start a survey to check first all of the electrical apparatus in the various business establishments to see if any of this equipment is causing the interference.

All persons who are experiencing any trouble with radio interference are requested to notify the Utility District and report the nature of the interference and the time that it is experienced.

It has been found that many times the smallest piece of electrical apparatus may be causing the most trouble, but in most instances such trouble is apparent within only a small radius of the location of the apparatus. Vacuum cleaners, electric shavers, sewing machines and such appliances may cause trouble within a radius of between two or three hundred feet. It is only a simple matter, however, to eliminate such interference with but a small charge to the owners.

It is hoped that everyone owning electrical apparatus will give their whole hearted co-operation to this survey and assist in eliminating the radio interference.

Red Cross First Aid Station For Highway

Elmer J. Holstrom, First Aid field representative of the National Red Cross from the San Francisco office has announced that first aid stations will be established shortly on the highways in this region.

Mr. Holstrom stated that it was tentatively planned to establish a station at the junction of the highway to Lake Tahoe on US 40 west of Truckee.

The Red Cross is establishing these stations all over the state where first aid can be rendered for injured persons, not only as the result of highway accidents but from accidents of any cause. Persons will be brought to the station nearest the scene of the accident, where first aid will be given in preparation for removal to a hospital. There will always be two people at a station to render aid.

At each station there will be complete first aid equipment such as splints, bandages, stretchers and all articles required for rendering emergency aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Keenan and children Doris and Gordon are visiting with relatives in Sacramento for a week.

"The Country Beyond" will Be Completed This Week. "White Fangs" Will Follow At Once. Scenes for "The Country Doctor" also Being Shot.

That old gag about the city limits of Los Angeles extending to the Canadian border—or is it the Arctic circle—is moving a step nearer reality so far as Truckee is concerned.

An influx of motion picture crews is making this high Sierra town practically a Hollywood "back lot"—which is movie vernacular for the studio space devoted to outdoor sets.

With a 20th Century-Fox location company directed by Eugene Forde on the scene filming "The Country Beyond," a second 20th Century-Fox unit arrived in town last week in charge of Director Henry King. This second unit will make scenes for "The Country Doctor," the film which will present the Dionne quintuplets in their first dramatic roles.

A third unit from the same studio will arrive next week, after the Forde company departs. This group will make scenes for "White Fang," another dog story.

Still indefinite are plans for two more motion picture companies who have been conducting negotiations for making scenes near here. A scouting unit from Columbia studios inspected the Cal-Neva area last week, and a production unit of Paramount studios has been attempting to make arrangements for shooting in the Tahoe region. The titles of the two pictures are not known.

The Eugene Forde group, filming "The Country Beyond," will wind up some time this week, according to production manager Robert E. "Duke" Goux. Rochelle Hudson, leading lady of the picture, left Truckee on Tuesday in order to return to Hollywood for additional scenes for "The Music Goes Round," with Harry Richman. The company is completing the scenes which do not require her presence.

Henry King, director of the quintuplet picture, flew to Reno from Los Angeles in his own ship and came here by automobile. King is noted in movie circles as a "flying director." He has but one scene to film—but that is expected to take considerable time. The scene depicts an airplane landing on snow, and Paul Mantz, noted Hollywood flyer, will attempt the hazardous feat when a suitable landing area is found and weather conditions permit.

Federal Income Taxpayers

For the convenience of those who are required by law to file federal income tax returns, Deputy Collector W. D. Malloy, of the Internal Revenue Service, will be at the Sierra Tavern on Friday, Feb. 21, 1936 to assist taxpayers in preparing their returns. No charge will be made for this service. The matter of filing your income tax return should be given immediate attention in order to avoid penalty and interest.

HAUPTMANN REPRIVE

Despite the wave of indignation it provoked, the reprieve of Bruno Richard Hauptmann was not unexpected, in the view of many California editors.

Regardless of the motive behind Governor Hoffman's action, the display of 'executive clemency' was considered by some as only another obstacle in the path of justice.

"Thirty-day reprieve for Bruno Richard Hauptmann by Governor Hoffman of New Jersey," remarked the Santa Paula Chronicle, "was not unexpected even in view of the attitude of high courts which refused to grant the convicted Lindbergh slayer another chance. Evidently Governor Hoffman is not satisfied in his own mind that the entire story behind one of this nation's most baffling and brutal crimes has been revealed. There are thousands of persons who believe Hauptmann knows more than he is telling—that he is shielding some one."

Hoffman, notes the Hanford Daily Sentinel, "was the only one who could stop the execution. Hauptmann's lawyers had exhausted every resource to the courts. Their last appeal to the United States supreme court was filed at noon and denied two hours after. The sum of it all is that Hauptmann goes unexecuted for the present for one of the most heinous crimes in American criminal annals and the feelings of the nation will be further harrowed up by the case when and until he does go the chair. Governor Hoffman has assumed a grave responsibility."

"It must be borne in mind, of course," said the Eureka Humboldt Standard, "that the governor of a state is charged with a tremendous responsibility in the final decision as to the life or death of a criminal. In view of the high feeling throughout the country with respect to the case, and of the certain knowledge that a reprieve would bring upon his head condemnation from many sources, Governor Hoffman must be cognizant of evidence that has not as yet been revealed. The unfortunate aspect of the situation lies in the fact that it stresses, again, the weakness of the American scheme of law enforcement—to wit: the uncertainty of immediate punishment for criminals."

None doubts, according to the Stockton Record, "that Hauptmann was only one of several persons who had a part in the Lindbergh crime. All will agree with Governor Hoffman on that point. But the thing which subjects the wobbling governor to exhortation and suspicion is his shifty evasion of motives in granting the stay. There is a possibility that Hauptmann, who has stoutly maintained he has nothing to tell, may show a change of front. More remote is the possibility that the governor has knowledge of fresh evidence."

"If he (Hauptmann) were innocent," states the Los Angeles Post-Record, "he could have given some more reasonable explanation of the manner in which he secured possession of the ransom bills than that they were given him by a dead man. The state of New Jersey wove around Hauptmann the most complete chain of convincing testimony that could be devised. In no portion of the evidence does it appear that there could be a reasonable doubt as to his guilt."

The delay, concludes the San Jose News, "will not do the reputation of the American legal system any good. In most other countries, particularly in England, France, Germany, Canada and Italy, Hauptmann would have been executed long ago. Ours is the only system which permits these deviations and delays; ours is the country having the reputation for the slowest and most cumbersome judicial machinery in the world."

LONG LIVE THE KING!

For scarcely more than a week, now, a new monarch has reigned over the British Empire, and shouts of 'The King is Dead; Long Live the King!' have ceased to echo across the little island of England.

But the mourning, the ceremony and the sombre pageantry go on, and will go on for a full twelve months. That long it takes to complete the rites attendant upon the death of a King and the ascension of another.

When George V died, a great mass of people gathered silently and solemnly about St. James Palace, and many of them wept. They loved their King, and knew him as an honest, earnest, thoroughly human man. Across the street a cannon boomed 70 times, once for each of the King's years on earth. Later a six-month period of full court mourning was proclaimed. Common men and nobles alike bought black bands for their coat-sleeves. Then all the members of the Cabinet and both houses of Parliament began the process of individually swearing fealty to the new King, a ceremony that required three whole days.

It is difficult for an American to understand all this. The English King reigns, perhaps, but does not rule, and is, so far as direct power is concerned, a mere figurehead. Why, we wonder, should England give so much of her time, energy and money to a figurehead, especially when affairs of the moment are pressing unduly and the actual government faces a crisis in international matters?

We do not understand it, but actually England would not be England at all, to her people, without the King. Their illusion of permanence, their sense of nationality, their perspective of historical unity is embodied in the King, and has been since William the Conqueror first took over in 1066, or perhaps even since King Arthur of the round table held sway.

They are bound together by their monarch, and by him also, to a degree, the vast British dominions that constitute a fourth of the world's land and a fourth of its people are bound to England.

This last function is, perhaps, the one remaining active job of the sovereign, and in the new King, Edward VIII whom America has known and respected as the Prince of Wales, is excellently fitted for his task. Too, he is and will continue to be loved by his people, and will exert his moral influence within the country for their best welfare.

May he have a long reign, and a useful one!

SOME WAYS OF EXPRESSING BANTER

Before the modern technique for printing illustrations was developed, it was with their needles that women smiled at the sedate ways of their times. There is now the Antiquarian Museum in Worcester, Massachusetts, a large embroidered panel which shows how the gathering of a congregation before the door of the Old South Church amused one woman who saw it. It was with their needles also, that women giggled at their husbands. A Western New York woman embroidered two tidies for her husband's two rocking chairs. One bore the picture of a horse and the motto, "Get Jim, Sam." The other said "Take a seat, Sam," his reward for the exercise.

Women laughed at their houses and at their families through silhouettes, cutting them in a way that the grave masculine wielders of the scissors never undertook. When the modern magazine and newspaper illustrations became possible they entered that field in the same spirit in which they took up their pens and began to write humor. We have but to turn to the free banter of Helen Hokinson, Mary Petty, and Alice Harvey to note how a hundred years have enriched and widened women's appreciation of absurdities.

But banter is not always so free. Sometimes there are causes to serve. The cartoonist may have spiritual affiliations, as we see in the work of Alice Beech Winter, Lou Rogers and Nina Allender. Campaigning with their pencils, they helped to laugh down the opposition to the movements with which they were identified, thus clearing the ground for lighter moods by others. All along the line from the gravely comical to the comically grave stretch the canvases of women painters who indulge in independence of tradition, notably Dorothy McKay, Barbara Shermund, Mabel Dwight, Esther Pressor, and Marjorie Organ. Abastenia St. Leger Eberle has reached the Metropolitan Museum with an amusing piece of sculpture. Rose Cecil O'Neill has long been a in three years, provided business continues its improvement.

He does not favor a change, but would like to have a program ready in the event the sales and income taxes are repealed next November.

He desires to avoid a special session if possible, and has said he could see no reason for calling one, now or later.

It was understood, however, that capitol building maintenance heads had been instructed to delay remodeling the assembly chamber until March. This was interpreted in some circles to indicate the governor may call a special session shortly after the tax conference. Sources close to the executive, however, saw no likelihood of that unless California banks should refuse to cash state warrants and thereby force immediate action to increase the revenue.

The board of equalization surprised its critics when it voted against renewing the liquor license for the Cotton Club, one of the oldest and best known night clubs in the Los Angeles area.

Although the formal reason for the denial was listed as "contrary to public morals," the board acted as it did because liquor control officers reported gambling in evidence at the club and board members said they were opposed to mixing the liquor situation with gambling. Members intimated similar action would be taken in respect to other well known Southern California clubs where gambling is the main attraction.

Critics were offering odds that the indirect anti-gambling drive would not carry far; would not reach the "higherup" gambling interests. They pointed out, however, that if the board investigators "were not careful, they would be forced to go the limit and revoke or deny licenses of all gambling places." And if that should happen, there was some fear expressed for the physical safety of Ray Edgar, Los Angeles member, and employees working in close cooperation with him.

The gambling menace, according to the board investigators, is not so evident in the north, but is growing steadily in the Los Angeles area where it has developed into a powerful and rich industry.

Board critics were at a loss to figure how the board could hope to clean up gambling. Board members insist they are not trying to do that, but merely are seeking to prevent the gambling interests from extending their power to the liquor administration.

Officially, they explain that under the law licenses may be denied places which are "contrary to public morals" and they believe gambling establishments fall under that category.

The board may not have to worry about the liquor problem next year. If the legislature adopts the recommendations of board members themselves, liquor and business interests and individual legislators, the administration of beverage laws will be placed in the hands of a separate commission.

Enrolment Decrease Expected

DAVIS, Jan. 16 —(UP)—A slight decrease in enrolment was expected by officials at the University of California branch college of agriculture here when registration for the spring semester opens January 20.

Two days will be devoted to registering students, Mrs. Jack Dennis, recorder, said. Enrolment at the last semester totaled 777, an all-time high for the college.

CRIME DOES NOT PAY

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30 —(UP)—If anyone doubts that "crime does not pay," a recent case in superior court here might be cited as substantiating that contention.

Mike Martinez and Jesus Delgado were sentenced to prison terms of one year to life following their conviction on charges of robbery.

The loot obtained in the robbery consisted of a pocket knife and 19 cents.

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By Swanee

Answering a last minute invitation from Secretary Treasurer Robert Lamson of the most recently organized ski club, the Paul Bunyan of Westwood, Tahoe's entries carried off seven of the nine awards made. The newest sanctioned ski club of California, the Paul Bunyan, was given Jan. 26th as the date of their sanctioned meet and because of the short time allotted them beforehand, could not contact all the numerous winter sports clubs, only the Mt. Lassen Club, the Tahoe Club and their own participating in the initial meet. Joe Henry Sr., tournament director and chief of the hill for the Tahoe Club, accompanied the boys to Westwood and acted as judge for their hosts. Walter Mandeville of Tahoe took 2nd place in the Class B jumps; Carl Bechdolt Jr. took 1st in the slalom, Junior Henry, 2nd and Walter Mandeville 3rd; in the Class C jumps David Renner took 1st place, Junior Henry 2nd and Carl Bechdolt Jr. 3rd. The members and officials of the Westwood club proved excellent hosts to the local boys, inviting them to the big dance which preceded the meet on Saturday night and giving them a place at the banquet table on Sunday.

Plans for the Tahoe Ski Club's State meet here on Feb. 22 and 23rd are progressing with enthusiasm. Joe Henry Sr. who has been named Tournament Director, is being ably assisted by Henry Worden. Applications are being mailed out to the various other ski clubs in the state who will participate, and all entries must be returned to the Tahoe Club by Feb. 15th, according to Mrs. A. M. Henry, Secretary.

A novel innovation this year is to be a large box with a sliding cover which will be placed at the top of Olympic Hill where all daring enough to scale its steep heights will be privileged to sign the register which it will contain.

On Sunday last Marie Henry and A. M. Anderson of the Tahoe Club laid out the down mountain trail over which the race will be run on Feb. 22nd. It covers approximately 1½ miles of rugged country with a drop of 1,500 feet.

Applications were received from the Auburn Ski Club this week for entries in their sanctioned meet to be held at Cisco on Feb. 15th and 16th. The local club plans to send a full contingent entering nearly all classes of competition.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Tyler, owners of a grocery store in the Lake Forest district at Tahoe, who have been spending several months in Sacramento and vicinity, were both seriously injured while returning to their Tahoe home on Saturday last. Mrs. Tyler, driving a newly acquired car, was nearing the Weimar Sanitarium when in some unknown manner the car became out of control and started to climb the steep bank of the highway. It turned over and was badly wrecked, injuring both of the occupants. Mr. Tyler was deeply cut around the face, neck and throat, and received bruises and shock and Mrs. Tyler, besides cuts and bruises, received a badly crushed chest by the steering wheel. Both were taken to the County Hospital at Auburn where they now are. Relatives here drove to the scene of the accident and brought their personal belongings home.

Fox Film Company are busy shooting scenes for their new picture "The Country Beyond." Most of the scenes so far have been taken in and around the Donner Lake region, where many trail sequences will be featured. Harry Johanson and his beautiful huskie team of Tahoe are being featured in the film, and Harry himself, has done a number of doubling acts for principals in the picture. The most interesting scene in the whole affair was shot on Friday last when the father and daughter escape on a dog sled from their cabin in the woods while the police are in the house searching for them. "Buck" 186 pound star of "Call of the Wild" is being featured again in this picture and Rochelle Hudson, Paul Kelly and others.

An advance crew from Columbia Studios visited Tahoe on Saturday looking for locations for a new picture to be filmed by them here. They plan to arrive around Feb. 4th and have chosen Cal-Neva for the locale of their shooting. The Brockway Hotel will be opened to accommodate the party. The name of the picture or of the leads in it were not announced by the director. The advance party included J. P. Scully, contact man for Columbia Studios, Director Elliott Nugent, W. L. Harmond, Ed Hahn, Thomas Flood and Jerry Pica.

Any New Ford V-8 Car

Can Now Be Purchased for $25 a Month

with Usual Low Down-Payment

This $25-a-month time-payment plan enables you to buy a New Ford V-8 car through your Ford dealer on new low monthly terms.

After the usual low down-payment is made, $25 a month is all you have to pay for any type of new car, including insurance and financing.

Your cost for this extension of credit is only ½ of 1% a month on your original unpaid balance and insurance. This plan reduces financing charges for twelve months to 6%. For example, if you owe a balance of $400 for your car and insurance, you pay $24 for the year of credit; if the balance is $200 you pay $12. Your credit cost for one year is the original unpaid balance multiplied by 6%.

UCC plans provide you with insurance protection at regular conference rates. You have not only fire and theft insurance, but $50 deductible collision, and protection against other accidental physical damage to your car.

The Universal Credit Company has made these plans available through all Ford dealers in the United States.

Mrs. Vernon was winner of first prize, Mrs. Atherton received second, Miss Florence Vernon third and consolation prizes were awarded Marie Henry and Mrs. Simmonds, a second boobie prize being an innovation.

Mrs. Clark Burnham and a party of friends from Oakland recently spent the week end at the Hills estate on the Truckee River.

A. R. Westphal and his charming bride of four months, the former Judy Bell Swain, motored to Tahoe on Monday being guests at Tahoe Inn and left for Yosemite Valley on Wednesday morning. While here Mr. Westphal made an inspection tour of his lovely summer estate Westlake in the Sunnyside district. He and his wife enjoyed some skiing and snowballing and on Tuesday evening entertained at dinner at Tahoe Inn Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanson and son Jimmie. They also made informal calls on some of their friends in town. They plan to spend several days at Yosemite before returning to their San Francisco home.

An advance scouting party from Columbia Studios visited Tahoe and vicinity on Saturday last looking for locations for a new picture to be filmed in the snow country. Mr. Westphal's showplace, Westlake, was visited for inspection but was decided too small and so Cal-Neva has been definitely settled upon as the scene of future activity. Mr. Comstock is opening up Brockway Hotel to accommodate the picture group who plan to arrive around Feb. 4th. The name of the picture and the identities of the leading male and female leads were not divulged. The party included J. P. Scully, contact man for Columbia, Director Elliott Nugent, W. L. Harmond, Ed Hahn, Tommy Flood and Jerry Pica.

Miss Mary Jane Soll celebrated her 12th birthday on January 21st at her home in town on the circle.

Mrs. Northie Pomin has been indisposed with a severe cold which has hung on for some time.

Mrs. John Stevens has been enjoying a visit in Sacramento with friends having gone below to shake a cold which confined her to bed for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Marshall were guests at dinner of Captain Hans Hanson of Rubicon Lodge on Thursday afternoon.

Carl Bechdolt, and a reception committee of friends, welcomed his brother, John Bechdolt, who arrived from Ohio Friday afternoon. Carl had not seen his brother for ten years or more and John had some trouble recognizing him, as Carl had just gone to Sacramento and had all his teeth pulled out. Those in the welcoming party included Mr. and Mrs. Bert Watson, Stella Watson, Mrs.

Eleanor Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Rad Kieffer, Mr. Freeman of Brockway and Miss Rosalee Heller.

Mrs. M. E. Ellis and daughter Barbara Gene Hill left their Piedmont home on Jan. 26th for New York where they will remain indefinitely.

John Franklin and Fred Kohler enjoyed a rabbit hunting expedition recently in the Long Valley vicinity which proved highly successful.

The Fox Film Co. are taking shots in the vicinity of Eagle Rock where Melver's cabin, recently faced with bark, is being used. A guard has been posted during the past week to keep all curiosity seekers off the snow in order that it would not be trampled. They plan to remain for some time yet to complete "The Country Beyond."

Mary Burns, Fugitive

By Wallace West—Novelized from the Walter Wagner—Paramount Picture of the same name.

CHAPTER X

After Harper had departed Powell paced up and down the long room, smoking and thinking. He was still pacing when the sun sank behind the Rockies like a ball of fire. When an automobile, without lights, swept up to the lodge entrance, he hurried forward and opened the door.

Two women got out of the car. He stared at them curiously. One was rather plump and middle-aged. That would be the matron. The other had great sad eyes under a cloud of dark hair, and a face which looked pale and wan in the dusk. That must be Mary—

"Hello." The girl's greeting was strained and embarrassed. Then, as she studied his face, "Your eyes. They're all right?"

"They must be," he smiled at her tenderly. Then, noticing that the matron was at the other end of the room, taking off her things, he added: "And they've never seen anyone more beautiful than you."

"Miss Andrews," he turned to the policewoman. "Do you mind if Miss Burns and I walk in the garden a bit?"

"Sure and I don't," was the answer. "You can't be gettin' away with the whole forest sowed thick with G-Men. And if that murderin' Don Wilson comes in, I've that in my bag which will make him think twice before botherin' me." She patted her bulging purse.

What took place between the two lovers in the garden will never be known. Suffice it to say that they returned to the living room hand in hand, with shining eyes.

"You'd better go up to bed now," said Powell. "You must be about dead after that trip. What they dragged you up here for anyway I can't understand. You and Miss Andrews will sleep in the bedroom at the head of the stairs. I'll wait down here to see if Wilson comes."

The two women mounted the stairs and Powell returned to pacing the living room. The log fire threw grotesque shadows about his tall, lean figure and the scratching of tree branches against the north window sounded like ghostly fingers.

Half an hour later the upstairs bedroom door opened and Mary, wrapped in her dressing gown, came out, and hurried down.

"I couldn't possibly sleep," she explained. "Not with Don out there, somewhere. Besides Miss Andrews forgot her precious purse and wants me to bring it up to her."

As she spoke the north window flew up with a crash and Wilson himself leaped into the room.

"Fooled them again," he said as casually as if he was replying to an introduction. "They didn't think I'd pull a Tarzan on them, and travel through the trees instead of under them." He strode over to Mary and started to take her in his arms.

"Easy there," interrupted Powell. "Miss Burns is my fiancée."

"Your what?" Don whirled on him, automatic in hand. "You lie. Come on, Mary. We've got to get out of here."

"Wilson, you can't get away this time," Powell goaded him. "And it would be murder to drag Mary along. You're just a cheap grandstander and—"

"Yeah?" That crack had hit Wilson hard. "I'm the most famous guy in the country, that's all."

"You're insane, Wilson," said the explorer as he inched toward a gun rack.

"I'll show you how insane I am," the gangster gloated. "Mary, come here!"

Mary was thinking shrewdly. Knowing the spot that Powell was in with this madman killer, she moved slowly toward Wilson in such a way as to pass close to the piano on which lay the matron's handbag. "Make it snappy, kid—we've got to get going," said Don, paying no attention as Mary casually picked up the bag. Then, to Powell he added with insane, killing lust, "That crack about my being a cheap grandstander—is your last crack."

"But I'm going to give you a memory to take with you!" He turned to Mary who was standing near him terrified, her hands gripping the bag. "Show that Sir Galahad you were kidding him. Show him who you really love! Show it to him with a kiss, angel, before I shoot him."

With his free hand he swept Mary toward him while he kept Powell covered with the automatic. He kissed her passionately. Mary, the purse in her hand, pressed close to him, as if willingly, with a smile. Then, when their bodies were close in a tight embrace, there was the sound of a pistol shot, another and another.

Wilson's gun fell from his hand as he slumped to the floor, a bewildered, incredulous, baffled expression on his face. One hand was pressed to his chest, while his eyes were turned toward Mary as if, even in death, he could not believe she had shot him. He tried to speak, then fell back and lay quiet.

"I had to do it—I had to," sobbed Mary, covering her face with her hands. "I knew he would kill you. And I don't care—, She turned furiously to Harper as that astounded

Christian Science

In all Christian Science churches, branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, February 2, on the subject "Love."

The Golden Text will be: "My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth" (1 John 3: 18). Bible selections will include the following passage from 1 John 4: 16: "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which read as follows: "The precise form of God must be of small importance in comparison with the sublime question, What is infinite Mind or divine Love? No form nor physical combination is adequate to represent infinite Love. A finite and material sense of God leads to formalism and narrowness; it chills the spirit of Christianity" (p. 256).

G-Man charged through the front door. "I don't care—what happens to me, I don't care."

OROVILLE, Jan. 30 —(UP)—Harry McDonald was stopped by police when he was seen wandering through the business section of town a little unsteadily.

The home of Thomas Eversalt was filled with friends over the past week end who thoroughly enjoyed their hospitality in supplying equipment for tobogganing, skiing and sled rides down the steep hill slope adjacent to their home. Among those in the party included Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsey of Truckee, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wilson of Yreka and Thomas Eversalt, wife and son, Teddy.

The Club laughed at the idea of rescinding their action and re-instating Selburn. Everything seemed to be settled except appointing a Judge, when the members of the fair sex offered their assistance, and hinted that they could select a judge. Now it is rumored that we are to be disappointed, as a hasty signal from the Castle called "Whispering Pines," brought stealthy figures in

The town dogs took one look at the huge St. Bernard and crossed to the other side of the street.

The day after his arrival Spitz appeared on the street without Buck for the first time—but the town dogs crossed to the other side anyway.
